Puredia SeaBerry® Baby Leaf Powder

Flavonoids, Fiber, Amino acid, Vitamin B, C, E

For centuries, Tibetan monks have used sea buckthorn tea in their practice to help with focus, calming and meditation. We take Puredia SeaBerry® (Sea Buckthorn) baby leaves and mill them down into a fine powder that allows for a wide range of uses including nutraceutical, food and beverage, and personal care. Naturally high in serotonin, theanine, polyphenol, flavonoids, fiber, and vitamins, this powder is great for calming, soothing, and detox. Use this caffeine-free baby leaf powder, not to excite but to calm. With a high content of antioxidants, minerals and 16 different amino acids, it helps to boost energy and remove pollutants in hair, skin and mind.

Skin Benefits

Calming, soothing and detox

Natural theanine and serotonin in the powder can help to soothe angry, inflamed skin while calming and rejuvenating the mind. There are multiple flavonoids in sea buckthorn leaf and are different from other berries and tea, the 4 main components are isorhamnetin, quercetin, myricetin and kaempferol. They work together to help brighten and balance the skin tone.
